

Football.Fun Competitor Landscape (Stage 0 Analysis)

Stage A — Category Classification

- Web3 Fantasy Football/Sports Game: Football.Fun is described as a “Web3 fantasy football platform”, where users collect and trade player cards/shares and compete based on real match performance ¹. This aligns it with fantasy sports games in the Web3 domain, combining traditional fantasy football concepts with blockchain assets.
- Play-to-Earn (GameFi) Sports Application: The platform incorporates play-to-earn elements – players can earn in-game currency (and a forthcoming $FUN token) through tournaments and trading, making it part of the GameFi category ¹ ². Its use of a dynamic AMM-based market for player shares also adds a DeFi twist to the gaming experience ¹.
- Sports Prediction/Trading Game: Marketed as “the world’s most rewarding sports prediction app” ³, Football.Fun emphasizes skill-based speculation on real athletes. Users “own” shares of players and are rewarded based on real-world performance, effectively turning football knowledge and predictions into a trading game ⁴ ⁵.

Stage B — Competitor Discovery (Safe)

Only listing competitors with verifiable evidence of similar products or overlapping market.

Competitor	Type	Reason (verified)	Verification Anchor	Confidence
Sorare	Direct	NFT fantasy football with real player cards & official leagues ⁶ ⁷	“Sorare is a fantasy football game... players buy and sell cards featuring real-life footballers” ⁶ . Also the most popular blockchain fantasy sports platform with licensed leagues ⁷ .	100
Ultimate Champions	Direct	Free-to-play fantasy football game with NFT player cards (multi-sport: football & basketball) ⁸	“Ultimate Champions is an entirely free-to-play fantasy football game with officially licensed digital cards... on the blockchain” ⁸ .	95
TopGoal	Direct	Web3 fantasy football manager game with officially licensed NFT collectibles ⁹	“TopGoal is a web3 powered Fantasy Football Manager game with officially licensed digital collectibles.” ⁹	90

Competitor	Type	Reason (verified)	Verification Anchor	Confidence
FootballCoin (XFC)	Direct	Established fantasy football game using blockchain collectible cards & its own crypto token ¹⁰	"FootballCoin is the most complete Football Fantasy Game where you can collect player cards, build teams and compete in real-data competitions... win XFC, the game's cryptocurrency." ¹⁰	85
FOREVER FC	Direct	NFT-based football manager game with evolving player cards tied to real performance ¹¹	"FOREVER FC... trade and game with digital collectibles, whose in-game performance changes over time. Start your soccer manager journey..." ¹¹	80
Metaverse Football League (MFL)	Adjacent	Web3 football management simulation (club management, NFTs on Flow) – overlaps sports gaming market ¹²	"Metaverse Football League (MFL) is a unique Web3 football management game and ecosystem. Players can become a football agent, a club owner, a scout, a coach..." ¹² (focus on club management in a blockchain game).	80
aiSports CryptoDFS	Adjacent	Blockchain-based daily fantasy sports (DFS) platform (multi-sport) – targets similar fantasy user base ¹³	Described as "the premier daily fantasy sports (DFS) platform built on the blockchain" ¹³ – indicating a crypto DFS product for sports fans (likely including football contests).	70
Soccerverse	Adjacent	On-chain football management MMO with club shareholder and agent roles – broader football metaverse concept ¹⁴	"Soccerverse is a blockchain football management MMO... you can take on the role of a manager... or a shareholder... each club a fractionalized DAO...earn from the club's performance" ¹⁴ ¹⁵ . (Targets football enthusiasts with a managerial angle on blockchain.)	70

Competitor	Type	Reason (verified)	Verification Anchor	Confidence
DraftKings Reignmakers (NFL)	Narrative	Example of sports NFT fantasy (NFL) often cited in Web3 sports discussions, showing the trend of fantasy games with crypto collectibles (though for American football)	Mentioned in context of NFT fantasy sports trend – e.g., Reignmakers for NFL is another sports fantasy NFT platform (showing market interest in fantasy + crypto) ¹⁶ ¹⁷ .	50

(Note: Reignmakers is NFL-focused, not soccer; included for narrative context of sports NFT fantasy platforms.)

Stage C — Uncertain Mentions

Projects that have been mentioned in relation to Football.Fun but lack strong evidence as true competitors.

Project	Why It Is Uncertain	Source of Mention	Confidence
Chiliz / Socios (Fan Tokens)	Sports blockchain focusing on fan tokens and engagement , not a fantasy/trading game. Sometimes referenced because it's a leading sports crypto platform, but it doesn't offer fantasy gameplay.	Mentioned in sports crypto discussions alongside Football.Fun's launch, e.g. Chiliz CSO noted Football.Fun as a rising Base-chain sports dApp ¹⁸ (contextual mention, different product focus).	30
Fantasy Premier League (FPL)	The popular traditional fantasy football league (Web2). Overlaps the target audience (football fans) and is a point of comparison, but not a blockchain project and involves no asset trading. Only related in concept, not a direct market competitor.	Football.Fun is explicitly contrasted with traditional games like FPL: "Unlike Fantasy Premier League where you set weekly lineups, [Football.Fun] focuses on trading players like assets" ¹⁹ . This highlights FPL as a baseline fantasy game, though outside Web3.	40

Stage D — Incorrect Comparisons

Projects commonly mentioned in comparison to Football.Fun but not truly comparable (misclassified in narratives):

Project	Why Incorrect	Example of Misclassification
Football Index (defunct)	Not a game, but a gambling platform. Often cited due to the “football stock market” concept, but Football Index was a real-money betting product that collapsed. Football.Fun, by contrast, is free-to-play and designed to be sustainable and transparent.	Football.Fun’s own community discussion distinguishes it: “Unlike Football Index, Football.Fun is free-to-play... no real-money gambling... designed to be sustainable and transparent” ²⁰ . Football Index’s model (cash wagering on player futures) is fundamentally different and ended in failure, so comparisons are misleading.
Chiliz (CHZ)	Different sector (infrastructure & fan engagement). Chiliz is a blockchain for fan tokens (tokenizing team fandom), not a fantasy or trading game. Comparisons arise because both are “sports + crypto,” but Chiliz provides infrastructure and fan voting rewards, not gameplay.	Some social media discussions lump all “sports crypto” together, but Chiliz’s fan tokens lack the fantasy competition element. For example, Football.Fun’s success on Base is noted in context of SportFi, but its product is unrelated to Chiliz’s fan token ecosystem ²¹ ²² . (Any direct comparison ignores that one is a game, the other a fan token platform.)

Stage E — Pre-Rating Table (Preliminary Positioning)

Using verified info above, a high-level comparison of Football.Fun’s competitors in terms of positioning, strengths, and risks:

Project	Category	Strengths (verified)	Weaknesses (verified)	Narrative Momentum	Risk Notes	Confidence
Football.Fun (ref)	Web3 Fantasy Sports (Base L2)	Innovative hybrid of fantasy & trading; free-to-play entry; rapid early growth ⁴ ²³ (achieved ~$100M player market cap in weeks ²⁴). Backed by known investors, fully on-chain.	New platform, unproven long-term; requires sustaining user growth beyond initial hype. (The team instituted anti-bot measures and plans revenue-sharing ²⁵ , acknowledging volatility.)	High – Strong buzz in 2025 as a breakout sports dApp on Base (quick adoption, social media interest).	Smart-contract and market volatility risks (acknowledged by dynamic fee introduction up to 20% during volatility ²⁵). Regulatory uncertainty for sports gaming.	90

Project	Category	Strengths (verified)	Weaknesses (verified)	Narrative Momentum	Risk Notes	Confidence
Sorare	NFT Fantasy Football (Ethereum)	First-mover & market leader: officially licensed cards from 300+ clubs ²⁶ ; huge funding (€580M raise, valued €3.6B) ²⁷ . Large global user base across football, MLB, NBA.	Barrier to entry: Cards can be expensive; success often requires significant spending or expertise. Value volatility is inherent – card prices rise and fall with player performance ²⁸ ²⁹ . No permanent free-to-win mode (limited free cards only).	Stable/ Mainstream – Remains the benchmark for Web3 fantasy sports, but 2021 hype cooled. Still expanding to new sports; strong brand but facing new competition (like FDF).	Market risk: NFT card values fluctuate with real sports performance ²⁸ (users bear financial risk). Regulatory risk (classified as gambling in some jurisdictions).	95
Ultimate Champions	Fantasy Sports NFT (Multichain: BSC/ Polygon)	Official licenses + truly free-to-play: Players can play without spending, earning NFT cards. Multi-sport (football & basketball) broadens appeal ⁸ . Lower cost barrier than Sorare, aiming at accessibility.	Still growing user base: Not as large or liquid a market as Sorare. Economy relies on two tokens (MGC/CHAMP) – complexity and token value risk. Less media buzz than bigger rivals.	Moderate – Positioned as a more accessible Sorare alternative. Has traction in niche communities, but yet to achieve major mainstream hype.	Token and NFT economy risks (value of rewards). Need to attract enough users to sustain marketplace liquidity against larger competitors.	85

Project	Category	Strengths (verified)	Weaknesses (verified)	Narrative Momentum	Risk Notes	Confidence
TopGoal	Fantasy Football NFTs (BNB Chain)	Official legend player partnerships: Licensed NFTs of famous retired players (Batistuta, etc.) ³⁰ . Integrated multi-sport plans (aims to expand beyond football ³¹). Backed by Binance ecosystem (launched via Binance IEO).	Severe token decline: $GOAL token down ~99% from ATH ³² , indicating a collapse in momentum. Gameplay and user adoption have lagged initial hype. Primarily on BSC, which some mainstream users avoid.	Faded – Had a hype cycle in 2021 (fundraising and initial NFT drops), but interest waned by 2023-2024 (low trading volume, token stagnation).	Token value collapse eroded user confidence ³² . Sustainability concerns if user activity doesn't pick up. Must pivot or deliver new updates to regain interest.	70
FootballCoin	Fantasy Football Game (Private chain/XFC)	Early entrant (since 2017): Proven longevity in fantasy crypto space. Free- to-play contests with prizes in XFC token ¹⁰ . Covers major leagues and offers a variety of contests (daily, seasonal) – a full fantasy platform with blockchain elements.	Outdated tech & smaller community: Uses its own XFC blockchain/ coin, not a major L1 – limits exposure. UI/ UX feels dated compared to newer games. Prize value (XFC) depends on a niche token with low market cap.	Low – Never reached mainstream awareness; maintains a small dedicated user base. Newer platforms (Sorare, FDF) overshadow it in press and partnerships.	Low liquidity and adoption of XFC token (market cap near $0 per trackers ³³). Could struggle to attract new users in the era of glossier competitors.	75

FOREVER FC	NFT Football Manager Game	Strong concept: “Evolving” player cards that change with real performance¹¹ – taps into dynamic fantasy gameplay. Has a sleek presentation (positioned as “ultra-premium” cards) and gaming focus. Winner of Animoca’s Amplify competition (indicative of industry support)³⁴.	Pre-launch phase: Still in beta/pre-release (as of early 2024)³⁵ – no public track record yet. Smaller community; needs to prove it can deliver on promises. Not yet on major aggregators beyond Alchemy listing.	Emerging – Garnering some interest in Web3 gaming circles due to its concept and backing. Narrative momentum will depend on a successful launch.	Usual startup risks: unproven economy and gameplay. If real performance tie-in is not well-balanced, could face issues like previous “stock market” games. Needs to secure licenses or risk content limitations.	60

Project	Category	Strengths (verified)	Weaknesses (verified)	Narrative Momentum	Risk Notes	Confidence
Metaverse Football League (MFL)	Web3 Football Management (Flow blockchain)	Deep gameplay: A club management simulator on-chain – more akin to Football Manager with play-to-earn elements ³⁶ . Appeals ³⁷ to hardcore management fans. Officially partnered with Flow (Dapper), leveraging an established NFT user base (Flow's sports audience).	Niche appeal: Complexity and less “instant gratification” may limit mass appeal. Lacks the real-player trading thrill; focuses on long-term club building. Still in open beta (as of 2024) ³⁸ . Not directly competing for the same “quick trading” fantasy experience.	Niche steady – Attracts a subset of Web3 users who prefer strategy and management. No huge hype spikes; growth is gradual among enthusiasts.	Risk that it might not convert traditional Football Manager players to crypto. Also depends on Flow's ecosystem health. Without broader adoption, could remain small-scale.	80
